

WANTED - A NAME!

The Northwestern Bible and Missionary Training School.
Vol. I. Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17, 1920. No. 1.

W H Y ?

No doubt this question will be uppermost in the minds of the students as they behold this first issue of our school paper. Why? The answer is two fold. First of all, the purpose of this semi-monthly paper is to promote interest in school activities. The second purpose is to give added incentive to literary efforts on the part of the students.

Northwesterners, this is your paper! Upon you rests the responsibility of making it a success. To the individual student falls the task - nay, the privilege - of contributing. If you have an idea which you believe would be beneficial to the students, put it into writing.

The English department is backing this paper, so watch for grammatical errors!

CONTEST.

This is a publication of the students, by the students, for the students. Therefore it is for the students to choose its name.

This is your opportunity to help your school paper along. Put your suggestion (with your signature) into the box on the parlor table before next Monday.

Miss Acomb offers a prize of a two pound box of candy to the student who suggests the best name. Put on your thinking-cap! Let every student do his bit! Name your paper!

"And they were astonished with great astonishment." Mark 5:42

There suddenly appeared among the student body one year ago a tiny paper with the strange title "The Astonisher". Queer as that title may sound, it has much in its favor and ought to truly represent the activities of the student body.

Jesus caused great astonishment throughout His whole ministry. His Deity and His message were verified by the astounding miracles wrought by His word. Immediately following His ascension, the apostles continued this miracle working in the name of Jesus, and these miracles were the seal of their apostleship.

Following Pentecost the miracle working did not cease, but was wrought by the power of the Holy Ghost, and thus was the apostleship of Paul and his associates verified.

Thank God, the miracles by the Holy Spirit continue to this day and continue to seal the work of every true ambassador of Christ. May we as a student body grip with fresh confidence the Sword of the Spirit and use it in His name to continue His miraculous work in the regeneration of lost men, giving such demonstration of the Spirit's power that we ourselves, and all who look on, may be astonished and praise the Lord.

THE ALARM CLOCK.

Among the various uses to which the alarm clock is subjected, that of thrusting promptness upon numerous well meaning individuals is, perhaps, the greatest. The alarm clock is, as it were, the essence of punctuality. Having been properly set, it never fails to ring merrily at the designated hour. The alarm clock may possess many faults, but these are as nothing in comparison with that one much needed, and at the same time much lamented attribute, promptness.

It is an art desired by everyone, but acquired only by the select. The individual who observes promptness in all things is regarded with the profoundest respect, yea even with awe.

This paper claims to share with the alarm clock that wonderful attribute, punctuality. Come what may, the (?) will appear promptly on the scene every alternate Wednesday. If you are afflicted with that unlovely malady, tardiness, it is hoped that reading this periodical will prove to be a help to you, for it is a well known fact that good associations improve character.

FROM AFRICA.

Dr. and Mrs. Murray, missionaries from South Africa, gave inspiring messages to the student body Friday morning, Nov. 5th. It was a wonderful hour; the presence of the Holy Ghost was felt, and the Lord spoke to the hearts of many of us thru these two dear friends. The message was keenly alive and the need of Africa became so much more real to our hearts than ever before. We thank God for such workers as Dr. and Mrs. Murray.

SCHOOL POLITICS.

The Student Forum held its first meeting of the year Oct. 13th. This meeting was for the purpose of electing officers for the year. The officers elected are as follows:

President: Geo. Fowler
Vice-Pres: Carl Lundholm
Secretary: Ann Kludt
Treasurer: Alvin Carlson
Auditor: Dana May Berry

We believe the student body showed good judgment in their choice of officers, and pray God's richest blessings on all the undertakings of the Student Forum this year.

President Fowler showed himself a man of decided originality when closing this first meeting of his administration. He calmly announced that all in favor of adjourning should signify by departing immediately. Although this method is not in exact accord with Roberts' Rules of Order, it was effective, and the first Forum meeting at once became a thing of the past.

SCHOOL NEWS.

Several of our number have recently left for work on the foreign field.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rosenau left Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on Sunday evening, Nov. 7th, and are now on their way to Central Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lange and baby left on Friday evening, Nov. 5th, for Venezuela, South America. Several of the students went to the depot and bade them Godspeed.

We will follow them with our prayers, and may God bless the work they are going out to do in His name.

CLASS NEWS.

Senior Class.

The Senior Class is all here, 13 strong! The following Class officers have been elected for the year: President, Miss Karen Gjølhaug; Secretary, Miss Elvina Christiansen; Vice-President, Mr. George Fowler; Treasurer, Miss Marie Wognsen. As a class, the Seniors have come back to school this year with a deep love born of long association, for the School, and an even deeper desire to serve the Lord Jesus Christ.

Class prayer meeting is held each Monday morning at 8:45.

The Seniors want, above all else, to be a help to the underclassmen, and to all the new students they extend a most hearty welcome.

Junior Class.

On October 27th the class meeting was called to order by John G. Barnett, our president of last year.

Woe to the Juniors! Would that they could retain him for another year as president, but in the height of folly (Morton thinks so) they elected Carl Lundholm as president.

Miss Kludt was elected vice-president, making the Juniors' folly even more apparent, for if the order was reversed, then all concerned would be better placed according to qualities.

Miss Wolfard was elected secretary and Gerald Morton was elected as treasurer.

So far, so good. Watch the Juniors. They will create a whirlwind to whatever they set their hand.

Freshman Class.

The Freshman class effected its organization about two weeks ago. Freshies are usually dumb before the imposing Juniors and dignified Seniors. We found one in our midst, however, who has the gift of "gab". His name is Alvin Carlson and he was unanimously chosen and elected president. We think he will make an ideal president, because of the possession of the above stated gift.

It is the opinion of the members of the Freshman class that ours is the finest class in school. We can't expect the Juniors and Seniors to hold such a high opinion; nevertheless, we appreciate the kindness and courtesy they have shown us. The fellowship is sweet and we thank the Lord each day for calling us into His service and guiding us to this school.

OUR MOTTO:

For me to live is Christ.
Phil. 1:21.

CLASS COLORS:

Red and White

The blood of Jesus washes hearts white.

POETS' CORNER.

We have a girl that made a vow
A strict old maid to be;
"Oh Boy!" is her slogan -
How it happens, don't ask me!

She's on the Editorial Staff
(She's second from the top)
Her "write-ups" are a wonder,
They'll make some fellow stop.

Just wait till she's 'bout twenty-four --
Her mind is sure to change;
We have that indication now,
"Oh Boy!" It's not a shame.

PERSONALS.

Gerald Norton claims to be the gold knob on the staff. The rest of the members do not dispute him the honor, but there is some difference of opinion as to whether that knob is gold, brass, or ivory.

Some of our students are drinking Loring Park well water now, because it is more healthful. We don't doubt it, but if you do, ask Hannah Olson or Roscoe Bailey.

Courts would be a real tall fellow if there weren't so much turned up for feet.

Odegard is going to move down to the first floor, in the room formerly occupied by Elmer Lange.
We must remember that Mr. Lange made his final step while rooming there. -- Goodbye, Odegard!

Earl Gardner and wife are here on their honeymoon.

Albert Olson has returned to school. Suppose candy making will soon be in progress.

Roscoe Bailey, Lillian Martin, and a suitcase, were seen (all three of 'em) going down 11th St. one Saturday.

Phillipotts: "Miss Akenson, you are not singing this right. Your tones should vibrate in the chest and they are bound to go up in your head, but the vibrations don't seem to hit anything."

LOST AND FOUND.

Found: Several couples strolling in the park.

Lost: An appetite. Ask Lenore
Robertson how to find it.

Lost: At the foot of the stairs in Apt. #4, one half hour.
Marie W.

Found: ~~Lenore~~ Geo. F.

Found: A number of A.B. students at school among the girls.

Found: The way to gain twenty-five pounds in one summer.
Those interested consult Margaret Fleming.

Found: Two chairs close together in the reading room.

Lost: By several students: A number of golden study hours. Picked up by Father Time and now beyond recall. (Those concerned take warning)

Rev. Moyer: "What is an epistle?"

Ed. Skoglund: "An epistle is the wife of an apostle."

QUESTION AND ANSWER DEPARTMENT.

Any student desiring information on any subject is invited to send the puzzling question in to this department. The "staff" will do their noble best to give answers both wise and beneficial.
However, they do not claim ability to answer every question, and questions for which they can find no answer will be printed (answerless) to be pondered at leisure by the students.

Here is one by way of example:

"What would we do without Mr.
Phillipotts' smile?"
